

Véronique POMI :

With an accomplished career in management, Véronique has 30 years of experience in operational leadership, human resource management, resource utilisation and organisational development in highly decentralised organisations.

Graduated of the IFG Lorraine Business School, she has been a consultant, manager and director of companies in the consulting and human resources sector.

In 2010, Véronique decided to found Medsenic with Prof François Rieger, to bring her expertise in business development and fundraising.

Her experience in streamlining operations, developing, and implementing organisational solutions and applying global HR expertise to influence the achievement of strategic objectives, has enabled her to be a "resource person", a problem solver and a creative leader.
